Capture Amiens as Nazis Run

Hyde Park Doc Aids French

As his Army aviation engineer battalion pushes forward in France, Capt. Augustine T. Rogers of Summit st., Hyde Park, takes on additional duties . . . aiding natives who have been denied medical care through the wholesale evacuation of French doctors by the retreating Germans. Here, assisted by Capt. N. A. Casciato (right), the Hub physician administers to an injured French youngster as the boy's mother stands by.

British Capture Amiens

By JAMES M. LONG

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 31 (AP) — British tanks crossed the Somme river and captured Amiens, ancient capital of Picardy, today in a drive that traveled 60 miles in 48 hours and imperilled half the rocket coast along the channel. They raced with American columns which streaked to within 33 miles of Belgium with such bewildering speed that at Laon they killed or captured three trainloads of German soldiers trying to flee to the Reich.

There was no rest anywhere for the disorganized Germans. Drives mushroomed all over the battlefields of the first World War, covering in an hour territory that it once took days and weeks to conquer.

One force of Americans, heading straight east for the German border, seized St. Dizier, 18 miles southeast of fallen Vitry and 87 miles from the Saar frontier of Germany.

(In southern France, the Germans were retreating under cover of costly rearguard actions up the Rhone valley toward Lyon. At the eastern end of the expanding grip on lower France, Allied troops seized Nice (Pop. 242,000) and thrust within 12 miles of the Italian border.

(Fifty thousand prisoners had been taken in the invasion from the Mediterranean. The retreating German 19th army, battling only when forced, had suffered tremendous material losses. A substantial portion of the enemy had reached Lyon, but at a high price, said Rome headquarters.)

The Germans had been expected to make some sort of stand at the Somme, but indications were enemy rearguard actions had turned into a fight to get back into the fatherland by way of Belgium, yielding at least half of the robot bomb positions and all northern France.

At Amiens the British were 62 miles from Belgium and 53 miles east of Dieppe, scene of the Commando raid of 1942.

British and Belgians crossed near the mouth of the Seine from 18 to 25 miles east of the doomed Atlantic port of Le Havre, and Canadians flushed the last snipers from historic Rouen,

Lt. Gen. Courney H. Hodges' American First Army, shifted eastward several days ago, drove two and one-half miles northeast of captured Laon in a swift dash toward the Belgian frontier.

In an eight-mile flanking sweep northeast of Rouen the Canadians plunged within 30 miles of a two-year-delayed vengeance for the Dieppe raid.

The Americans, racing from the Marne past Laon toward the Ardennes road, historic German pathway into France, had swept in four days the full width of bloody battlegrounds over which the Allies struggled in four years of World War I.

German resistance was collapsing along almost the whole line. The American Third Army, after capturing the cathedral city of Reims, drove on 10 miles north. The Aise bridgehead at Soissons was extended north and east.

Pin-Up

ROME, Ga., Aug. 31 (AP)— Six years ago Mary Rose Tankersley told her mother she had swallowed a pin.

Her mother did not believe it but told Mary Rose to be careful in the future.

Early this month, after a coughing spell, Mary Rose, now 15, was taken to the hospital for X-rays. Doctors found a pin lodged in her right lung, but decided to let it remain for the time being.

A week later she coughed up the pin, pointless and discolored, and saved doctors an operation.

NORTHERN FRANCE—British troops reach the Somme river, enter Amiens as Canadians push into Rouen. Meanwhile, Yanks drove to St. Dizier. Arrows show main Allied drives along black-lined front.

Reds Save Ploesti Field, Sweep Into Bucharest

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Red army was believed today to have entered Bucharest, capital of Romania, after capturing the great Ploesti oil fields which supplied a third of Germany's petroleum.

At midnight, the Russians were 17 miles from the city of 648,000 after an advance of 40 miles in a day.

Muscovites kept radios tuned for an order of the day.

"With the fall of Ploesti, the way to Bucharest is open," Red Star said.

Izvestia said from Ploesti the abrupt Red drive prevented destruction of the oil fields, but reported serious damage. Roumanian oil workers helped the Russians put out tremendous fires and civilians directed Soviet troops to Germans dressed as civilians, applying the torch right and left.

The dispatch said a plane trip over the fields disclosed the Germans did everything possible to destroy wells, pipelines, derricks and equipment.

Fast, mobile Soviet squads in the advance guard were strengthened by infantry and tanks that swept the Ploesti fields, then turned south toward the Romanian capital.

A Russian bulletin said Gen. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army captured 200 towns yesterday around Ploesti and northeast of Bucharest.

(Other forces of Malinovsky's army were believed developing a major offensive against Hungarian-held Transylvania high in the Carpathians, 75 miles north of Ploesti, London said.

(The Germans acknowledged Russian entry into Hungarian territory at two points and said Hungarians and Germans fought fiercely to plug gaps carved by the Russians.)

While the Red army knocked at the gates of Bucharest, a Romanian peace delegation arrived in Moscow.

Gen. Malinovsky's army captured an additional 15,000 Germans Tuesday, including Gen. Heil, Lt Gen. Weitzner and two colonels.

Gen. Tolbukhin's third Red army captured 100 towns between the Danube and the Black sea.

Slovakia In Revolt

By the Associated Press

Berlin acknowledged today that a revolutionary movement had broken out in its puppet state of Slovakia and that some garrisons had deserted.

The official German news agency, DNB, said riots occurred at several places in Slovakia and quoted a German foreign office spokesman as saying they could be traced to activity of Partisans and agents of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

DNB said the outbreaks "had rather the character of Bolshevist terror," starting with murder of priests and violation of women.

The agency reported that Joseph Tito, President of Slovakia, had appealed to Germany for aid and that it had been given.

Czechoslovak sources in London had announced the uprising yesterday and said it was the work of the Czechoslovak forces of the interior.

FRENCH LEADER IN BERLIN

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP) — Jacques Doriot, collaborationist leader of the French Popular Party, has arrived in Berlin, the Moscow radio said today, and has been given an important post in connection with the employment of war prisoners and foreign workers.

Dieppe Bombing Aids Monty

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP)— American Havoc dive-bombers exploded an ammunition dump near Dieppe today.

The dump was in the Darques forest where Havocs bombed a large oil depot yesterday. The raid was requested by Gen. Montgomery.

Marauder medium bombers made their second attack in 18 hours on the fortified island of Cezembre barring the mouth of St. Malo harbor.

British Mosquitos struck at enemy war transport and industry in northern France and Germany last night. A main target was Frankfurt.

16 Die in Brazil Plane Crash

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 31 (AP)—Sixteen persons were killed shortly after midnight today when a transport plane of Panair de Brasil, affiliate of Pan American Airways, crashed near the Sao Paulo airport.

Bulgars Aiding Nazis, Say Reds

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP)—Moscow today accused Bulgaria of aiding the Germans after professing neutrality, with the Russian press declaring the only hope for the Bulgars to save themselves would be by active war against the Nazis.

This sharp rebuke came as a Bulgarian armistice delegation was held virtually prisoner in Cairo awaiting Allied terms.

Moscow press stories charged that Bulgaria, after declaring her neutrality, had made an agreement with the Germans whereby Hitler would be allowed to withdraw troops and munitions from the country.

Sofia's failure to intern armed German ships and crews in Bulgarian waters, and the role Bulgars played and are playing in Greece and Yugoslavia, will not be forgotten, they asserted.

Russia and Bulgaria are not at war.

Belgium Believed New Robot Base

LONDON, Aug. 31 (INS) — Despite the fact British armies are driving hard toward the robot bomb coast, the Germans launched more of their pilotless missiles against southern England, including the London area, early today, causing damage and casualties.

A thunderous barrage of anti-aircraft fire was thrown up.

Coastal observers said most of the flying bombs came from the direction of the French coast between Calais and Dunkirk, and probably had been launched from Belgium. Only a small number of the robots, they declared, came from the area behind Boulogne.

The British radio reported that robot bombs which landed in one London district last night carried propaganda leaflets claiming that the British are responsible for the blind bombing because "Britain started it all."

Stilwell's Fliers K.O. 49 Planes in Hunan

CHUNGKING, Aug. 31 (AP)— In two battles near Yochow in Hunan Province Aug. 29 U. S. 14th Air Force fliers scored the best haul they have yet achieved—49 planes destroyed or damaged.

The figures were given in the communique from Gen. Stilwell's headquarters. It also reported fresh American raids on the Hankow and Canton areas.

MARTHA (MICKEY) DEVINE, FORMER SHOWGIRL
Hub Beauty To Be Manville's Eighth Wife . . . He Says

Denies Mickey Tommy's No. 8

"Don't you believe a word of it—she's through with marriage!"

This was the reaction today of Mrs. Margaret E. Devine of Clearwater dr., Mattapan, who seemed thoroughly displeased at a statement from the much-married Tommy Manville of the asbestos millions, that he was planning to marry her daughter, Martha "Mickey" Devine, former Broadway showgirl and divorced wife of Maj. Horace E. Dodge, Jr., motor magnate.

Tommy Manville

"Why, only in the past week, I read in the papers where Manville was about to marry a New York girl I know very well," Mrs. Devine said.

"I have not heard from my daughter and I don't know when she is coming home," Mrs. Devine said in the cozy, white home to which her daughter moved her in 1937, "but I don't believe this report."

"Mickey," who obtained a Reno divorce from Dodge July 28 with a reported settlement of $1,000,000, was expected by her mother a few days after receiving the decree but still is absent.

Manville himself linked his name with "Mickey" in an announcement he was ready and willing to try the matrimonial wars once more with the former South Boston beauty as No. 8.

He made the announcement while snuggled close to a beautiful blonde he wined and dined at Manhattan's Stork Club. The blonde, who wasn't Mickey, didn't seem to mind.

"Yup, I've been in love with Mickey through most of my previous marriages," said Tommy. "We'll get married and go out to Arizona where that husband she divorced — Horace somebody — gave her a ranch. I've always wanted to see cows."

His seventh marriage, to Sunny Ainsworth, lasted less than 12 hours, and since that break-up he has twice announced he was ready to try it again.

FREEPORT, Me., Aug. 31 (AP)—Nearly 100,000 eggs were more or less scrambled with blueberries here today when two trucks collided.

The drivers, Henry H. Knight of Union, headed for Boston with 280 cases of eggs and 18 cases of blueberries, and Garnet M. Scott of Bridgewater, driving a load of beef to Presque Isle, escaped injury.

The beef suffered little damage.

Austen Lake in France

Writer Meets Men He Knew in Britain

By AUSTEN LAKE

ON THE ROAD TO PARIS (delayed)—It was a clear, blue-and-gold morning when I emerged from the little bomb-cellar dug in an apple orchard and where the pilots of a fighter group of the 9th Air Force sleep like prairie gophers. Breakfast was the usual egg-powder and high-voltage coffee. I got the loan of a jeep from a sleep-numbed liaison officer, then bounced over the dusty miles to Vire.

The town itself was in American hands and badly mauled by a cross-fire of artillery. But in the suburban villages and little farmsteads, the sullen Nazi still clung to his positions, with an incessant roar of guns rising and falling in a hellish symphony of sound.

From heights just behind the town I could see the glitter of bursting shells which stabbed the German lines through the smoke of their explosions in little twinkling flickers like the sparkle of innumerable mirrors heliographing messages of death.

Day after day the U. S. guns, bombers and tanks had pounded away, as they did now—hammering, searching, pummeling while the Nazi kept doggedly to his holes and withheld fire until our troops came into the naked open. Though doomed, the Nazi beast still snarled.

LIFE IS EMPTY

A little distance to the rear of our lines I had passed French peasants going about the sordid business of restoring their ruined homes. They showed no interest in the noise and spectacle of war which had become such a monotonous and familiar part of their lives.

I had stopped to ask road directions of an old farmer, as he squatted on his shattered doorstep and stared emptily into space. Then I pointed to the roadside signs, posted by U. S. engineers as warning that the fields had not yet been ordered cleared of mines. "Il faut faire attention," I said and he had answered, "Moi, je m'en fiche de la mort" (I don't give a damn about death). Family scattered, cattle gone, no food, his life was empty.

Behind, under the sheltering crown of my hill and among the thick, earth-buttressed hedgerows which are both a shelter and a scourge to our troops (they make an ideal cover for enemy rear guard action), several U. S. armored companies were in bivouac. I had lived with these men in England. Many of them I knew by sight.

FIRST HOT FOOD

Now at any moment an H. Q. courier might arrive and hand Capt. Sten E. Bergstadt of 56 Bowdoin st., Worcester, an order and he would yell: "Okay, turn 'em over and get rolling."

Then the bearded, sleep-starved men who, spooning up the first hot food they had had in a week (their portable kitchen had just come from the rear area), would climb into their General Shermans, close the manhole-covers over their heads and lurch toward the battle beyond the town.

I borrowed a messkit from the No. 1 cook (mooching becomes a business on the front) and got my portion of hash, stewed corn and sauerkraut and went under the nearest fish-net covering.

Among my lunch companions was Cpl. Tom L. Davis of 44 Winchester st., Newton Highlands, husband to Mary (Hurley; May 3, '41), who used to work for the Morschner Dye Works (Needham). Another was T-Sgt. George M. Silva of 173 Court st., Plymouth, who had liked to sail his motor cruiser and work for Walsh Construction as a carpenter.

Later, at the company PC (post of command) their captain, John Wertz, spoke of the pair as a father gives credit to stout-spirited sons. "It's men like those who are winning our war," and he told how Davis sat in the suffocation of the tank and went on knocking out enemy strong points in Tunisia, Sicily and France.

And how, a scant mile behind this spot, Silva, in charge of maintenance, had hitched his retriever tank to a stalled Sherman that was a bottleneck in the advance.

TWO FROM MAINE

And how, under direct fire, he had hauled the disabled tank to the rear while the combat column pushed past.

And the captain said, with a cynical twist of the mouth as one who deems medals a poor reward for such gallantry, that he was framing a recommendation for one of the several forms of military jewelry the high command awards for merit.

As a rule one New Englander leads to another, and Tom poked among the hayfields and the gully of a dry brook until he found Sgt. Merton H. Jenkins of Saco, Me. (RFD 1), a lean and placid little man who talked about the three pounds of chocolates Mother Georgiana had sent—for the mail comes through to the battlefields in the best P. O. tradition (Ed note—what is that slogan "Neither rain nor flood shall deter these faithful servants from their appointed rounds." Something like that).

And Pvt. Howard W. Churchill of 412 Woodford st., Portland, Me., radio operator-gunner, who hears from his aunt, Mrs. Helen D'Amata of 1691 Commonwealth ave., and used to sell Addressographs for C. F. Ogden.

And Pvt. Allen Leland of 15 Farmland rd. Lowell, a tank driver whose wife is Yvonne (Daigle: Oct. 16, '37) and had worked for John Sullivan at the

5 Days Ahead, Says Gen. Ike

By JAMES M. LONG

ALLIED HEADQQUARTERS, Aug. 31 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower announced today that operations in France are five days ahead of schedule.

Smiling and bronzed, he told reporters the crushing defeat administered to Field Marshal von Kluge was due partly to the land-greedy Nazi strategy of inflexible defense—a rigid stake-all stand on a flank south of the Seine.

He announced that Lt. Gen. Bradley had taken his place as a full field commander of American armies in northern France in equal status to Gen. Montgomery

From the first five days after the Normandy landings the Allied command has been able to foresee the whole German strategy, one of rigid defense, in which the enemy staked all and lost all, he said.

He added that before the invasion the Allied chiefs had thought it would be more likely—and better strategy—for the Germans to withdraw when they saw they were unable to hurl the invaders into the sea, fighting a delaying action back to some better defense system with more direct lines of supply and reinforcement.

Instead, the Nazis fought in and out at Caen on a plan of strategy which made every foot there more important than 10 miles anywhere else along the line. Every piece of dust there had the value of a diamond, so bitter was the enemy's determination to hold on well south of the Seine.

Out of a desire to keep the Germans guessing about his intentions in Pas de Calais, he declined comment on German robot bombs except to say personally he didn't like them.

Commenting on the vaunted German frontier fort chain, he said no defense system is better than the men who defend it.

Eisenhower seemed convinced the Germans were scraping the bottom of the barrel for forces to brace their broken western front.

Answering a question, he said that if the Allies drove into Belgium and the Netherlands, the Germans probably would be forced to pull out of Denmark.

Day's Short Stories

Talkative Crow

CHICAGO, Aug. 31 (AP)—Sgt. Thomas Ryan says he was more than surprised when he stepped to the porch to fetch in the milk and was greeted by a crow's "hello."

Ryan offered the crow a piece of bread and, he said, the bird took it with a query: "How's business?"

The crow followed Ryan as he inspected his garden, made other remarks, less intelligible, and then flew away.

He used hack saws, the prisoner said, which were left with him by a former prisoner released before he got a chance to use them.

M'Arthur Abused, Maine GOP Told

By FRANK REILLY

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me., Aug. 31—Gen. Douglas MacArthur was smacked down by New Dealers because he was mentioned as a possible candidate for President this year and for many months was in virtual exile in the South Pacific, Rep. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois declared today.

Dirksen last night addressed 5000 Maine Republicans at an outdoor rally in this summer playground. Today he resumed campaign work in behalf of Gov. Dewey for president.

Charges concerning recent treatment of Gen. MacArthur were made by Dirksen during a discussion of Pres. Roosevelt's visit to Hawaii.

Referring to the President's meeting with MacArthur at that time, Dirksen said: "Gen. MacArthur is a very popular personage in the United States.

"In fact, he is so popular that just a little while ago the New Dealers looked upon him as a threat to the fourth term. So they got busy and they smacked him down.

"For month after month he was in virtual exile in the South Pacific.

"This is election year. Gen. MacArthur is now no longer a fourth term threat. He remains exceedingly popular in America. And in an election year it is a good idea to be seen as much as possible with as many popular people as possible.

"So now it's 'Hello Doug,' and 'My dear friend Douglas MacArthur.' But that is the voice of the fourth term candidate and not that of the commander-in-chief of our military and naval forces.

Dirksen also charged that President Roosevelt declined to make a trip to Hawaii in 1941 with a view to holding a conference to prevent war with Japan.

"Mr. Roosevelt did not make that trip. He said that the 21 days required for that momentous purpose was too long to be away," Dirksen said. "On this recent journey—this campaign trip to Hawaii—Mr. Roosevelt was away for 34 days."

Murphy Named Adviser to 'Ike'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (INS)—The State Department disclosed today Robert D. Murphy, veteran American diplomatic trouble shooter, has been appointed political adviser to Gen. Eisenhower in connection with machinery to be set up for the military occupation of Germany. Murphy is to have the personal rank of ambassador.

It was he who handled the secret diplomatic spadework in North Africa which paved the way for the American and British invasion late in 1942.

He has been acting as American political adviser to British Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, supreme commander of the Allied Mediterranean operation.

Murphy, now in Rome, will return to Washington for consultation before proceeding to London.

Must Quit Bets, Support Family

The father of five children who supported the bangtails instead of his brood was given a different handicap by Judge Robert Gardiner Wilson, Jr., in Suffolk Probate Court today.

He was Anthony Tracia, drawbridge worker at the General Electric plant in East Boston, brought into court by his wife, Carmela, on a temporary support petition.

Tracia, whose youngsters range in age from 5 to 13, began explaining that he earns only $35 a week.

"But instead of giving any of it to us he plays the dogs and the horses," the wife interrupted. "He pays only $12 a month rent for our house on Chelsea st., East Boston."

"You have a young army to support," the judge told Tracia, "and I never heard of anybody getting rich supporting race horses. And a family like yours belongs in a housing project—why don't you see your politician?"

An order for Tracia to pay his wife $20 a week support, besides the $12 monthly rent, was made pending final hearing.

Mrs. Columbo Dies Thinking Russ Alive

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Julia Columbo's life ended last night—and with it one of the tenderest deceptions ever enacted in this capital of make-believe.

She was the 78-year-old mother of Russ Columbo, handsome crooner and film actor. She died still happy in the belief he was winning ever more fame abroad—mercifully unaware he died a decade ago.

Russ was killed Sept. 2, 1934, then 26 and at the crest of a career as a night club singer and film actor. He and friends were examining an old Civil War cap-and-ball pistol, believing it unloaded. The weapon discharged, and the bullet struck him in the brain.

His mother was too ill from a heart ailment to be told of his death.

So each week she received a letter from "Russ." Actually it was written by her husband, Nicholas, or one of the other four children—Tony in Philadelphia; Albert, John and Mrs. Carmela Tempest here.

The missive would be filled with newsy accounts, tender sentiments, reports of his successes abroad, and regrets that he was still too busy to return for a visit.

Once a month the letter contained a check for $398, supposedly from Russ. It was the payment to her from his insurance policy.

The deception was continued after failing eyesight narrowed her little world. Her husband died two years ago.

Duchess' Operation Successful, Hospital Denies Lavish Retinue

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor underwent successfully an operation for appendicitis at Roosevelt Hospital today, Dr. Joe R. Clemmons, medical director, announced.

The operation was performed by Dr. Henry Cave of New York and was witnessed by Dr. Lay Martin of Baltimore, who had been in consultation.

"The operation was successfully carried out and no adverse complications are anticipated," Dr. Clemmons said.

Elaborate precautions were taken to protect the privacy of the 48-year-old, American-born duchess who married the former King of England. All hospital entrances were guarded by police, and reporters were barred from the information desk where they sought ot inquire about the condition of the former Wallis Simpson, who entered the institution last night.

Dr. Clemmons issued a statement earlier this morning that "the duchess has one room and one nurse on duty at a time and that's all."

"She does not have a suite of ten rooms or two nurses on duty at a time," Dr. Clemmons said.

Yesterday a person connected with the hospital told an Associated Press reporter the Duke had reserved 10 rooms and engaged six nurses for the Duchess.

Dr. Clemmons said in his statement on the operation that "reports that the Duchess is receiving unusual hospital and nursing facilities are entirely untrue."

Three bulletins will be issued daily on the condition of the Duchess, the hospital said.

The Duke, now Governor-General of the Bahamas, and his duchess came to New York in July and have been living quietly here and visiting friends at Newport, R. I.

Ancient Tear Jerker Floors License Board

"We'll change the name if that will make it smell sweeter to the Boston Licensing Board."

This was the offer which Russ Offhaus, producer of the old-time melodrama, "The Drunkard, or the Fallen Saved," made today after the board banned the scheduled opening of the show tonight at a Huntington ave. night club.

Mary E. Driscoll, licensing board chairman, informed the club management that the board did not approve of the production and said the board's principal objection was to the title.

Jack Brown, club manager, said he would abide by the board's ruling, but Producer Offhaus declared he believed the board would relent if the play's title was changed.

"This is a case of a hangover without a drink," Offhaus said. "After all, nobody from the licensing board has seen the rehearsals, and apparently the only objection is the name. This is an ancient tear-jerker which P. T. Barnum first produced 101 years ago. We haven't changed one line of the script. Certainly, it can't go bad all of a sudden."

Revived in 1926, "The Drunkard" was performed by a road company in Boston's Copley Theater some years ago. It is described in Boston Public Library records as "a moral, domestic drama of American life."

For 11 consecutive years the play has been running in a small Los Angeles theater where beer and pretzels are sold to the audience.

Bay State Food Crop Promising

Despite an unseasonable May freeze, a severe June drouth and another of record-breaking proportions this month, Massachusetts probably will produce as many tons and dollars' worth of food as last year, State Agriculture Commr. Louis A. Webster declared today.

He complimented Victory Gardeners for doing a "magnificent job" in the face of adverse weather conditions and asserted the all-out efforts of truck and market gardeners would enable the state to approximate its 1943 yield of 17,000,000 bushels.

Increased planting of feed corn will produce approximately two million bushels.

The potato outlook is good

Grape and pear crops are double while the peach crop will be 50 times larger than last year, when there was a killing frost.

An estimated yield of 2,665,000 bushels of apples is almost one-half million more than in 1943.

Man Held Despite Plea of Beaten Star

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Laurence M. Lloyd, 49-year-old advertising executive, who has a department store heiress for a wife and two addresses on swank Park ave., faced arraignment today in the beating of Louise Keys Munn, 29, an actress who so far has shed five husbands.

LOUISE STANLEY
Ad Man Denies Striking Her

The victim, known on the stage as Louise Stanley, has asked the police to forget it all, but Lloyd must answer to a charge of felonious assault.

Detectives were called to hear her story after she had been removed to a private hospital from Lloyd's Hotel Ambassador suite, which, incidentally, she gave as her own address.

L. M. Lloyd

She said she and Lloyd had been having a few drinks together when he began to let fists fly, and added that it wasn't the first time she had been on the receiving end when drinks had been poured.

Lloyd, husband of Helene Simon, daughter of the founder of the Franklin Simon store, has another home at 983 Park ave., in addition to the Ambassador suite he hired a year ago.

He told police he had left Louise at midnight, and, as far as he is concerned, she must have been shadow-boxing with herself.

Among those questioned by police were doctors called to treat the victim, as well as Louise's personal maid, who had charge of an extensive Munn wardrobe found in the apartment.

Louise, who had the leading role at the Boston opening two years ago of "The Vinegar Tree," topped off her extensive marital record with a June divorce this year. It goes like this:

Dwight O'Keefe, now a captain in the Army; Lee Bennett, former singer; Dennis O'Keefe, the actor; Addison Randall, whom she married and divorced twice, and Charles A. Munn, Jr., a Navy lieutenant, whom she dropped June 12.

Her father is assistant director of the Department of Public Safety in Illinois.

Meat, Butter Point Values Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (INS)—The Office of Price Administration announced today meat and butter point values will continue unchanged in September. Civilians will receive a slight increase in the over-all supply of meat but 10 per cent less of the better cuts.

Present point values will be maintained next month for beef steaks and roasts of AA (choice), A (good) and B (commercial grades); lamb chops and roasts of AA, A and B grades; and pork hams and loins. All other meats will continue point free, including utility beef and lamb.

Creamery butter will continue at 16 points a pound in September, although the new point charts have it listed at 20 points. OPA explained the supply was found adequate to maintain current butter values.

The War Food Administration allocated 95,000,000 pounds of creamery butter for civilian consumption in September, against 100,000,000 pounds in the five-week August period.

The September meat supply, OPA said, will average approximately 284,100,000 pounds a week, against 277,200,000 last month. Although the overall supply will be up 2 per cent, the supply of better grades costing points will be 10.5 per cent smaller, OPA said.

Effective at 12:01 a. m. Sunday, there will be these changes in point values of dairy products:

1—Point value of process (remade) butter will be increased to 12 red points a pound from six points, as at present.

2—Group III cheeses—Swiss, Italian, Munster, Limberger, Camembert, Liederkranz—will increase in value from eight to ten points.

3—Ration value of canned milk will go up from two-thirds point to one point.

Demobilization Plan Drafted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (INS)—Congressional military leaders made it crystal clear today that the War Department—not Congress—should determine the order in which American servicemen will be demobilized after the war.

The War Department has nearly completed a demobilization plan to be submitted to the House military committee. Top consideration for discharges will be given to servicemen with the most outstanding military records—regardless of marital status.

Among the first men to shed their uniforms for civilian clothes, however, will be those longest in the service and those with children, according to the War Department's proposed "point system" covering discharges.

Nazi Party to Control Air Raid Defense

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP)—Hitler has ordered the Nazi party to take control of the nation's air raid precaution services.

This move announced by the German radio today means air raid wardens henceforth will take orders from gauleiters and trusted local group leaders of the party. Apparently many non-party personnel had been cracking under the strain.

Chaw Price Rises

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—"Chaw terbaccy" is going to cost more.

Beginning Monday, the OPA announced, manufacturers may increase their prices of plain chewing tobacco by about 20 per cent.

It means the consumer will pay about 12 instead of 10 cents for a plain plug, and 11 instead of 10 cents for a sweetened plug.

F. D. R., Churchill In War-Peace Talk

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (AP)—It now seems certain that before another month passes President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill will meet to formalize plans for the control of Germany—now approaching defeat—and the immediate postwar security of the western world.

Also expected to come up for discussion are arrangements for Britain's full participation in the final phases of the war against Japan once Germany is out of the way. This British help was promised by the Prime Minister when the President and he got together at Quebec a year ago.

The expected meeting of the Big Two threatened to steal even the security spotlight away from the representatives of the Big Four nations at Dumbarton Oaks.

For it is recognized in official circles that one of the Allies' most urgent immediate problems is that of short-range security in Europe, calling for continued political co-operation of the Allied powers after the necessity for cohesive military efforts has vanished.

That highlights another problem the President and Prime Minister will encounter: What about Stalin?

The Anglo-American armies are within possibly a few weeks of meeting Russian armies in crumbling Germany, and Anglo-American diplomacy must meet Russian diplomacy in every corner of Europe.

Some observers here are privately expressing surprise, therefore, that none of the numerous reports from Washington and London on the next meeting have spoken of Russian representation.

Readers Prepare For Overseas Gifts

Letters are beginning to arrive from generous and patriotic readers who want to make sure that some lonely boy serving in some distant overseas outpost will not be forgotten on Christmas Day.

The letters, typical of the warm-hearted desire of New Englanders to bring Yuletide happiness to our fighting men overseas, are in many cases in familiar handwriting for they are readers who in the past two years have been enrolled in the Christmas Gifts for Buddies Overseas Campaign, sponsored by the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser.

Many other persons already are selecting and preparing Christmas gifts to be mailed to husbands, sons and relatives serving overseas, and the volume of such mail is expected to be at least four times as great as last year.

Particular caution is necessary in preparing the packages to have the name and correct address typewritten or printed in ink both on the inside and outside wrappers of the Christmas gift, in case of damage to the outer covering in transit.

Incorrect addresses last year delayed 15 per cent of all Christmas packages for servicemen overseas for periods ranging from 60 days to six months.

No one wants his or her carelessness in preparing a package to result in a lonely Christmas for a loved one overseas.

All Christmas packages for men overseas in all branches of the armed services must be mailed between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, and it is time now to select and prepare these gifts.

If you wish to enroll in this drive, fill out the coupon which will be printed each day in the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser. Mail the coupon to the Christmas Gifts Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. Within a few days you will receive the name of some overseas man in your community whose Christmas you may gladden with a holiday package.

Names of these boys are supplied through clergymen, veterans' organizations, social and civic groups and through other patriotic citizens in each community.

Libby's Son Gets $100,000 a Year

BALTIMORE, Aug. 31 (AP)—Court records disclosed that more than $100,000 was being spent annually on the upbringing of young Christopher Smith Reynolds, heir to the Reynolds tobacco fortune and son of Libby Holman, former Broadway torch singer.

Total expenditures for the "support, education and recreation" of the 11-year-old boy during the last seven years amounted to $770,277, Baltimore orphan's court records showed.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds Holmes has been receiving for the last four years $6944 a month for her son's support out of guardianship funds held in Baltimore by the Safe Deposit and Trust Co., guardian. This allowance was said to give her $83,332 a year or $1602 a week.

Gloucester Officer Is Friend in Need

(Mr. Finnegan's dispatches have been delayed and many of those about whom he wrote from England may be in the thick of the battle in France.)

By HUCK FINNEGAN

SOUTHERN ENGLAND—Chasing foot-sloggers over the British Isles requires some steady foot-slogging on the reporter's part. A single division will scatter its units from, say, Fall River to Worcester, or Manchester, N. H., to Providence. Hustle all day and you might meet only a handful of boys from the N. E. area.

Thus, when you run into a chap like Lt. Norman J. Rose, 96 Friend st., Gloucester, who says: "Be in G-2 at 6 p. m., and I'll lead 'em in," you rank him with Santa Claus.

PFC John Hardy, Somerville — Cpl. Michael A. Maglio, East Boston

Rose graduated from Gloucester High in '29, is balding and single. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. James.

Rose has been in the service since January of '41, says he loves it, and you can believe him. He's an intelligence officer.

At any rate, at 6 p. m. there he came with an armful of GI's in this order:

Pvt. Richard Welch, 23 and single, of 134 Franklin st., Allston. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Michael. Welch is a tall, wiry individual who moved from Hanoville to Franklin st., "because it was nearer Ribby's (night spot)." He has three brothers in uniform: John, 21, in New Guinea; Warren, 16, Merchant Marine; Paul, 19, Army Reserve Corps.

Sgt. Leon Tice, 437 Washington st. (corner Foster), Brighton. Mother: Mrs. Helena. Leon ran for the late Tom Scanlon at Brighton High and graduated in '33. He was a member of the Brighton Players (Frank McNamara).

Cpl. John F. Flaherty, 22, of 16 Shannon st., Brighton (parents: Mr. and Mrs. John) played end on St. Columbkille's High football team, graduating in '38.

S-Sgt. John Hardy, 22, of 37 Springfield st., Somerville. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Walter. John graduated from Somerville High in '39, sold Boston Americans after school. Later he worked in the Somerville railroad yards. Brother Robert, 24, is in New Guinea; brother Alfred, 18, with the Army in Kentucky.

Cpl. William Murphy, 22, of 167 Putnam ave., Cambridge. Mother: Mrs. Helen. Bill played the backfield for Rindge under Tom Smith when Steve Levantis (B. C. Sugar Bowl) was a tackle. He was a salesman for Hewson-Potter on Bedford st., Boston, has a brother Robert, 18, with the Army in Australia.

Pvt. Paul Felix, 26, of 22 Howard st., Malden. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph. Brother Eddie is in the Navy. Paul worked in Jocelyn's department store, Malden.

PFC Arthur Martins, 22, of 180 Canal st., Fall River. Mother: Mrs. Mary Falcao. Brother Lawrence is with the Army over here; Brother Manuel Falcao is a chaplain in the Army, also here.

PFC Angelo De Filippo, 28, of 71 Lawrence st., Lawrence. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Louis. Brother Joe, 21, is in the Navy. Angelo graduated from Lawrence High in '36, was a printer for Lawrence publication.

Pvt. Paul Felix, Malden — Lt. Norman J. Rose, Gloucester

Cpl. Patsy Speziale, 22, of 137 Orleans st., East Boston. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Angelo. Patsy graduated from E. B. High in '40, worked in the Navy Yard until induction.

Cpl. Michael A. Maglio, 23, of 123 Princeton st., East Boston. Parents: Mr. and Mrs. Frank. Mike cooked for Sarah and Tony's, 261 Meridian st., East Boston, cooks for his infantry outfit here.

Pvt. Manuel Klein, who used to live with aunt Lena Cohen at 89 Jefferson st., Lynn. He boxed as a 135-pounder around Lynn, has done some regimental boxing here.

While stationed in South Carolina he met and married the present Mrs. Bessie Klein, and they have a son Steve Wallace Klein, one year old.

Lynn G E machine shop. And Lt. John Bova of 228 Rochambeau ave., Providence, who had worked with Dave Calkins at National Carbon and played golf in the low 80's with Bill Flanders at Brae Burn.

A covey of Douglas bombers circled high over the German positions, like buzzards about to feast on carrion. It was not too far to see them lay their lethal eggs, 500-pound capsules.

One could see the trail of orange flashes and the mushrooms of gray smoke and earth that suddenly burgeoned along the ground. And around them, too, was a pattern of pin-point flashes and the "kah-rump-rump" of German ack-ack bursts. The Nazi was not carrion yet!

RED CROSS ON SCENE

A giant sow rooted luxuriously in the dooryard of a farm where a medical unit was unloading surgical supplies from an ambulance. A young lieutenant colonel sprawled bellywise on the orchard grass and pondered over his reconnaisance maps.

A flock of orphaned pea-fowl wandered and croaked at a GI washing his feet in a muddy brook. A sergeant cleaned his dungarees in a gasoline filled hole in the ground.

A Red Cross man passed out soap, tooth paste and towels from his laden jeep—Arthur W. Lambert of 374 Main st., North Andover, whose mother is Eugenie and dad is Henry of the Stevens Mills.

Down the winding road where German 88's had finished their noonday shelling of the traffic corner with a daily regularity that amounted almost to a time signal, another tank company snatched what comfort it could. For combat troops learn to lapse into instant oblivion wherever there is a lull in action.

Men like these learn to close the shutters of their minds like the click of a camera, darkening their intelligence and lying for a while in a blissful blank.

OLD FRIENDS THERE

"Hello," said Capt. Bergstadt, a balding blond man with butterfly mustaches. I had known him months ago in England and now he spoke as casually as though we had parted only that morning.

"Say," he said accusingly, "my wife sent me that last story. You said I had cinnamon-colored hair." He smoothed back his thinning locks. "Well," I said, "you have."

There were old friends there, like PFC Louis Gertzberg of 91 Granville ave., Malden, who had lost 30 pounds since I saw him last ("No ill effects," he said) and wanted to be remembered to the boys in Joe Gann's watch factory.

And Sgt. Raymond J. Cote of 126 Payson st., Fitchburg, who said his mother wrote that she had received the American's reprint of my last winter's stories.

And Pvt. Samuel P. Freeman of 31 Fenwood rd., Roxbury, a veteran who had been in the hospital last winter for a nose operation, a reaming out of his nasal passages that, he said, made it possible to smell the decaying aroma of the seven dead cows which lay mortifying in the next field. And T-Sgt. Harry L. Mullaney of 9 Lexington ave., Attleboro, who said "Roger" instead of "Yes" and used to take his refreshments at Mo Frasier's Top Top Cafe.

PFC Louis Gertzberg Malden

Others were come-latelies to the tanks, long-term trainees who were taking the places of boys who, for a variety of reasons, were no longer here.

Youths like Pvt. George Lamarine of 256 Middle st., Braintree, whose dad, Frank, is a house painter whose services the writer would like to hire and who, George I mean, is married to Mary D (Thomas: 13 years ago).

And Cpl. Walter Jankowski of 284 Central st., Milford, who talked about fishing for bass in Beaver pond with Joe Jablonski.

And Pvt. Angelo M. Lacivita of 327 Hancock st., Springfield, who used to make tools for Gilbert & Barker (Charles Umla) and sniffs from afar the ravioli which mother, Antoinette, used to cook.

And finally, farther back, in an open air machine shop where the giblets and entrails of the big tanks lay amid unharvested wheat, and grease-smeared mechanics did marvels of heavy duty repair that might have stumped an arsenal back home. I found Cpl. Joe T. Keating of 5 Peabody st., Newton, who used to tinker with delicate instruments for the New England Tel & Tel and wants Helen Nickerson of Waltham to know that her mail is getting through. Good Night!

End the War VICTORIOUSLY. Make the Peace PERMANENTLY. Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY.

The Timely Suggestion of A Veterans' Friend

THE VETERANS of our country's wars need steadfast friends in their Congress. In Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell they have such a friend.

For a full quarter-century Mrs. Rogers worked unceasingly to obtain honest and honorable treatment for the men who fought and won World War I.

Today she is working just as hard and effectively for the deserving lads who are bringing World War II to a successful conclusion.

Mrs. Rogers labored long and arduously with the American Legion and the Hearst newspapers to secure the passage of the now generally acclaimed G.I. Bill of Rights.

She is proud of this legislation, and it is her desire that service men shall receive all the benefits guaranteed them.

A few days ago, in an address in the House of Representatives, Mrs. Rogers said:

"It is a hardship for the disabled veterans to be compelled to go to different offices, often far removed from one another, in order to process their claims, to receive examinations, medical treatment, hospitalization, vocational training, loans, and other benefits to which they are entitled.

"The Veterans' Administration offices at Boston are in different buildings in different parts of the city. The same separation of Veterans' Administration offices undoubtedly exists in other cities throughout the United States.

"It is working a tremendous hardship on the disabled veterans. It is very difficult for many of them to stand. In fact, many of them cannot stand, and they should not be sent or shoved around from one building to another.

"The Government should do everything in its power to house veterans' activities under one roof, even if some of the old-line agencies have to move out into temporary quarters."

Mrs. Rogers is absolutely right. Kindness to our discharged fighting men is the pledge and promise of the grateful country.

The "shoving around" of veterans must stop.

Keep Children in School

IN EVERY State and community of the country public officials, from governors down, are imploring young people to go back to school this Fall.

A wiser, more sensible appeal cannot be imagined.

The war jobs which have been so powerfully attractive to money-conscious children will very likely disappear as soon as peace returns.

Then the disillusioned youngsters will be stranded with only the memory of having once worked—a not too saleable commodity in the business of earning a living.

The youth who completes a high school course and continues his training in a professional, business or trade institution usually has something worth while to offer a prospective employer when he goes out into the world.

For that reason, he invariably commands the better position and the higher salary.

Fathers and mothers should realize this and strive to impress it upon their children.

This horrible global war will produce enough casualties without any shortsighted person's having to add the blight of ignorance to an already bad situation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—Well, I have seen some glassy-eyed and bewildered reporters in my time but I cannot recall ever seeing any more perplexed than those who tottered out of the White House the other day.

It would be a misstatement to say they were punch-drunk. They were Christmas tree-happy!

I am well aware this last needs explanation. But I hardly know where to begin.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, for some unfathomable reason, conducted what practically amounted to a one-man filibuster at his press conference. But instead of sticking to recipes for pot likker, like the late Huey Long, he got off onto Christmas trees.

Undoubtedly it was some kind of parable but it was very tough on us unesoteric guys. When we were learning this racket our city editors never taught us how to cover parables and I hope they are properly sorry for their remissness now.

The conference seemed to be out of hand from the start. Somebody asked Mr. Roosevelt why he had invited Vice President Wallace to lunch. The President replied that it was a very decent, respectable luncheon.

WELL, NO ONE, of course, had suggested it was indecent. The President added—in response to a question—that they had talked about everything; right in the presence of members of his family.

The mere thought of Henry Wallace pulling an off-color crack in front of the Roosevelt kiddies made us blanch. The President was weakening us for the kill.

He said he was thinking of making another non-political speech. You will understand there are no quotes around any of this because the President cannot be quoted. He said he thought at first that the subject of his non-political speech might be Christmas trees.

He reported that Steve Early, his adviser, had nearly had a fit at this. We all looked at Mr. Early but could detect no incipient convulsions.

The President then said he had decided against the Christmas tree theme because anti-Christmas tree forces might demand equal time on the air to refute it.

Mr. Roosevelt continued that he is raising Yule trees at his place in Hyde Park, and is making a nice profit on them. He said, however, that he would be glad to open his books to inspection if anyone cared to launch an investigation.

He switched from this fascinating thought to an announcement that he was going to make a political speech after all. He will make it Sept. 23, he said, at a dinner being given by Dan Tobin, head of the AFL Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Then, in answer to a question, he said that J. A. Krug is definitely the working head of WPA. We all went pop-eyed at this until the President said he meant WPB.

I am telling you I haven't any idea what the President was trying to get at and if the boss thinks I am too thick for this work I will go back to covering one-alarm fires.

After all, you never ask a battalion chief how many pieces of apparatus he has on hand, and have him answer:

"Christmas trees!"

Unless you can feel, when left by one,
That all men else go with him;
Unless you can swear "for life, for death!"
Oh, fear to call it loving.
Unless you can muse in a crowd all day
On the absent face that fixed you;
Unless you can dream that his faith is fast,
Unless you can die when the dream is past—
Oh, never call it loving!
—ELIZABETH BROWNING.

THIS is quoted by request. The demand for Mrs. Browning's poems is terrific since one of her sonnets was quoted in the film "The Purple Heart." Might be a good idea to reissue the film "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

. . . Do you know what a "Tom Watson" is? Or a "Cannonball"? Or a "Cuban Queen"? These are the name given different types of watermelons. Am informed that retailers of watermelons are baffled as to what is the best way to sell them. By the pound is not practical. Grocers do not have scales large enough to weigh watermelons. By the melon is not so good, either, as some are much larger than others. How about selling watermelons by the circumference? That is, at so much an inch. In that case all the grocer would need would be a tape measure.

MOTHERS: John L. Sullivan's father was 5 feet 3 inches tall and weighed 150 pounds. His mother was 5 feet 9 in her stocking feet and weighed 180 pounds. It is apparent the great John L. took after his mother. When Sullivan was at his peak as a physical marvel, some men of science pointed him out as an example of the influence the characteristics of a mother can have on a son. Of course, many experts on the subject claim that if a mother is strong, healthy and intelligent her sons will be likewise, regardless of the physical or mental characteristics of the father.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Ever hear of a "blind date bureau?" There is one in Pittsburgh. It is, according to my informant, conducted for people between the ages of 18 and 20 who are "of simple tastes and moderate means" . . . In Racine, Wis., four brothers named Smith each married a girl named Mary . . . How long have you had your present automobile? Probably much longer than you expected but certainly not so long as Edward D. Frazee of Confluence, Pa., has had his. Mr. Frazee purchased his car for $375 on July 3, 1920, and now, 24 years later, that same car is going strong.

SIDELIGHTS: A U. S. Army sergeant writing from Italy tells me eggs are selling there for 15 and 20 cents each. He adds: "The reason for this is the Krauts grabbed all the chickens and hens are very scarce" . . . As for the oldest twins in the United States how about Mrs. Suzanne Harrison of Philadelphia and Mrs. Margaret Ax of Honeybrook, Pa. On Aug. 3 these twins celebrated their 89th birthday together . . . "As to the characteristics of feminine Swedish blue-eyed brunettes I know nothing," writes a Bothell, Wash., subscriber. "However, my husband is Swedish and has blue eyes and dark hair. He's wonderful. We have been married eight years and if it turns out that we are to be married for 80 years it will be all right with me."

PARROTS: It is claimed parrots are strictly sound imitators and do not know what they are talking about. I know a man who has a parrot which when kept outside late in the evening will scream: "Take me in! Take me in! I'm freezing to death." I know another fellow who has two parrots that sing, talk and whistle. At times they seem to know what they are talking about. For example, the other day when I passed these parrots with my dog the birds began to scream: "Come here, now! Come here, now." And then they would whistle. Just as a man does when calling a dog. My pup, an innocent little fellow, was astounded. He looked at me and then looked at the birds. Then he looked at me again as much as to say: "What, birds talking! Am I dreaming? Have I gone nuts—or what?"

PLEASE NOTE: One in every 300 persons in the United States has an artificial eye. Before the war the Germans monopolized the artificial eye business of the world. Now some United States inventors have originated a plastic eye that is much superior to the German glass eye.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31—There's a deal that involves two of our top male actors, Gregory Peck and John Hodiak. Gregory, who has been rumored for a dozen or more pictures, moves over to MGM to play opposite Greer Garson in "The Valley of Decision."

Greer Garson

The deal is an extremely interesting one in that John Hodiak, who was to have been in the Garson picture, has now been borrowed from MGM for John Hershey's "A Bell for Adano." He gets the coveted Maj. Joppolo role, and I think 20th has something there. He'll be good. Peck, it seems, owed 20th a picture and so the exchange was made and everybody is happy.

PAT O'BRIEN'S fling as an independent producer has gone by the boards and he's just put his John Hancock on a six-picture deal for RKO. From the sound of "Man Alive," the first picture selected by RKO for Pat, can't say I blame him for letting the studio choose his yarns from now on. It's a very funny idea, by Jerry Cady and John Tucker Battle, about a man supposedly killed in an automobile accident (only he isn't) who comes back to "haunt" his chiseling wife.

JOAN FONTAINE breezed into town from Mexico and stayed one day, and then was off again for New York. But she stayed long enough to learn that William Seiter has been engaged to direct her in "Affairs of Susan." He's been borrowed by Hal Wallis from Wilham Goetz. Joan would like very much to have Joe Cotten for the male lead, but practically every other actress has the same idea. However, Hal is negotiating with David Selznick for Cotten and it may come to pass.

JUST HEARD of a project in North Hollywood that warms my heart and makes me proud of our picture folk. Under the chairmanship of Cliff Nazarro, double talk genius, a dance hall has been opened for boys and girls from sixteen to twenty-one. The admission is fifty cents, which goes to defray the expenses of the band. Bob Hope, before he went overseas, was so interested that he decided to open a Y.M.C.A. for this same group of young people. Sunday night Frank Sinatra was the guest of honor, and a few weeks ago Dennis Morgan and Jimmy Durante entertained. I can't think of anything that is a better antidote for the juvenile delinquency problem than this wholesome recreation center.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: The twoest twosome of the week is Ava Gardner and Arthur Shaw; John McLain, who was in love with Kay Aldridge long before he went overseas, will soon marry her, according to their friends; Moss Hart broke his foot, believe it or not, playing a harmless game of croquet; Martin Koslek's home at Balboa was badly damaged by fire over the week-end. All he saved were his citizenship papers and two oil paintings; Jack Goldstein, one of New York's best known and liked press agents, is leaving 20th Century-Fox for a new job. He's had several offers, but hasn't yet made up his mind; David Loew, producer of "Hold Autumn in Your Hand," has polled exhibitors. It's about 50 per cent for the title and 50 agin it and he hasn't decided whether to change it or not; Patti Andrews, of the Andrews trio, off for New York. She will shortly announce her engagement to Martin Meltzer. That's all today.

AS A DEEP STUDENT of the subject of dream boys and their effect on the respiratory processes of the average female, I should like to report that I attended Gary Cooper's cocktail party at the Music Hall this week and there observed, among, say, half a hundred girls of assorted ages and coloring, more sounds of sighing, yearning, mooning and moaning than have been heard since the year of the Big Wind.

Gary did nothing to excite these heart-rending noises except stand behind a large round table on which were arrayed dishes of potato chips, cashew nuts and pickles and shake hands with girls as they came up.

"How are you?" he would say, or "How d'you do?" or sometimes, "Well, very glad to see you." These could hardly be classified as wild or outrageous observations, but they brought quick blushes to the cheeks of the young ladies, and flutters to their eyelids.

SOME OF THEM said nothing. Some gulped. Some opened scarlet lips but found no words. A few brave ones looked up—it's quite far up—into the eyes and said things like, "Oh, Gary, this is something I've looked forward to all my life" or "Oh, Gary, I can't believe I'm really meeting you!"

When they told him how wonderful they thought he was, Gary (I'm doing it myself now) just shrugged and shook his head with a slight smile and said, "Oh, come on now, don't kid me" and changed the subject as quickly as possible. This would make them sigh and groan as if to prove that they were never more serious in their lives.

MRS. COOPER, smart girl and probably wise in the ways of fans, did not attend the party.

Of course, there's probably a switch on the whole thing. Mrs. Cooper probably goes to the movies and sighs like crazy over Charles Boyer.

Star Shine By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31—I find that gin rummy is still the favorite indoor sport. Its popularity continues and in many instances it appears to have taken the place of romance. There are many guys like George Raft who will entertain an actress, take her out—say to Romanoff's—and then keep her sitting there while he plays gin rummy. It's gotten so that a fellow prefers a deck of cards to Lana Turner.

Lana Turner

The gin rummy players have practically a lingo of their own, and there are many types of players. There is the fellow who picks a card, deliberates, and, as he discards, grinningly says: "Is gin any good?"

There's the fellow who, after discarding and revealing what he is holding, says: "I'm just a blabbermouth," and there's the chap who finally wins a hand and says: "What's the matter? Did you think this was a one-way street?"

The kibitzer is also an important person in a gin rummy game; almost as important as the players. Bryan Foy has evolved a set of new rules for kibitzers. The players must not pick up their cards so the kibitzers can't see them, and a kibitzer can call for a new deck.

There is one thing about gin rummy, however, that has yet to be explained; what makes a player tired when he's winning?

WALKING THE Hollywood beat, you and I learn of a new species that has come into existence recently. It is the professional sitter. Because of the servant problem many movie people who have babies are unable to go out evenings because they have no one to stay at home and take care of the kids.

Without benefit of an agency, a circuit of professional sitters has sprung up in Hollywood. They are elderly ladies who will come to your house and watch the children for 50 or 75 cents an hour. The rate depends upon your rating in the community.

These professional sitters are in great demand and have to be scampered. They have to be called for at their residence and then delivered back home.

Also, ample fruit, candy and sandwiches have to be at their disposal. There must be books to read and a lady to listen to

ALL REPORTS TO THE CONTRARY—the Olsen and Johnson musical "Laughing Room Only" will open in Boston . . . The exact date in October has not been set, but an October premiere in Boston it will be . . . The new show by the creators of "Hellzapoppin'" and "Sons O' Fun" has more thrill-making gadgets than its predecessors . . . Another musical slated for a Boston opening (in November) is the musicalized version of "Rain," entitled, rightly enough, "Sadie Thompson" . . . The play "Rain" was adapted by John Colton and Clemence Randolph from a short story by Somerset Maugham which appeared in a magazine called Smart Set under the title "Sadie Thompson" . . . Mr. Maugham, incidentally, thought so little of the prospects for a successful dramatization that he sold his author's rights for a very small percentage of the gross receipts . . . Ethel Merman will sing the title role.

PREDICTION: Before the end of the oncoming session of Congress the amusement tax on cabarets will be reduced from the current 20 per cent to 10 per cent . . . Howard Lindsay, creator of Father Day in "Life With Father," was so smitten with the performance of his prototype, Carl Benton Reid, that he lingered on in Boston for a second performance . . . Mr. Lindsay also helped write the classic comedy, the American theater's best of its type (in this opinion) . . . Pete Herman's brother, Lt. Henry "Hank" Chiarini of Orient Heights, has been reported (a) found, after being reported missing on D-Day, and (b) escaped from a German prison camp in Normandy . . . That is why so many drinks at the Music Box, where Brother Pete and his orchestra are starring, have been charged to Pete's salary the past few days . . . Lt. Chiarini was a star backfield man on the Gil Dobie team at Boston College in 1940 . . . Clem Druiseverd's debut in the big leagues was a source of satisfaction to this column, which first reported the Coast pitcher's probable purchase by the Red Sox.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Betty Hutton's triumphant engagement at the Keith-Boston will result in (approximately) a $53,000 net . . . Sinatra's record-breaking engagement at the same theater drew more than $61,000 to the box-office . . . But times were a bit different, and only a 10 per cent amusement tax, instead of 20 per cent, was being exacted then. . . . With the difference in the tax, La Hutton will have drawn almost as much money through the box-office wickets as "The Voice," and theater-attaches say that the record for attendance will accompany Betty on her trek West tonight.

JIM KEATING, the leatherman and horse-race fan, is making the best showing of any local owner since Sheldon Fairbanks owned horses like Gold Step, Old Baldy, and Paper Profits . . . Speaking of Mr. Fairbanks, one misses a mention of his notable pioneering in Boston professional football with his ill-starred Boston Bears . . . The Fairbanks pro team bucked the depression and the bad precedent of George (Laundry-Man) Marshall, who huffed out of Boston to Washington with his Redskins . . . But Sheldon's team must have been fairly strong . . . Three of his stars are on the roster of the new Ted Collins "Yankees."

RECOMMENDED: The Lafayette House, 20 miles out of Boston . . . For a "New England atmosphere" and for food served perfectly, this spot belongs on a vacationer's "must-list" . . . And if the bartender named Jack and the headwaiter named Orrie should ever lack a sponsor for new jobs, they are invited to call upon this department . . . One feature of the Lafayette House's cuisine is the rolls served with the bread-and-butter set-up . . . Too little imagination in most places foists a routine bread-and-butter setup on the eating public . . . Not at the Lafayette. The rolls are fresh and delicious . . . So is everything, we think.

Workers Urged To Save Paper

An appeal to all working men and their families to save every bit of waste paper was sounded today by John R. Jones, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers, AFL.

"Many of our paper mills are almost completely out of waste paper," Jones said.

"We know better than anyone how valuable your waste paper is to our boys fighting in France and in the Pacific. They must have it and if we fail them the lives of many will be unnecessarily imperilled. We are proud of the contribution labor has made to the war effort. This is one more job we must not fall down on."

Family Split by War to Reunite

After nearly four years of separation, Capt. Charles D. Morgan, 60, of Plymouth and New Bedford, soon will have a Boston reunion with his wife and son, Richard, it was disclosed today.

They are in three different countries. Morgan has been exchanged to England after being a German prisoner since Dunkirk.

Mrs. Morgan has just been freed at her French chateau by the advancing Allied armies.

Their son is enrolled at Milton Academy and is under care of his aunt, Mrs. George Russell Briggs of Plymouth.

Morgan was practicing law in Paris when the war broke out and joined the British army, with which he also served in World War I.

New Allied Plan For Rule of Reich

By KINGSBURY SMITH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 (INS)—An important change in Anglo-American plans for the military occupation of Germany is understood today to be under consideration by the American and British governments.

It now is proposed that American, British and other Western European Allied forces should jointly occupy two-thirds of German territory in the west.

The Soviet government still prefers separate Russian occupation of the zone allotted to it. It has been suggested that Anglo-American occupation of German territory should include at least token forces of France, Belgium and the Netherlands. Gen. Charles de Gaulle has been insisting that French forces participate in the occupation.

The American government flatly rejected a recent British suggestion that the Anglo-American occupational authorities adopt a particularly friendly attitude toward the Germans in American and British zones, apparently intended to offset what the British feared might be a Russian attempt to win over the Germans in Soviet occupational zones. This government is opposed to any policy which might be construed as playing one section of Germany off against Russia.

NOTES FROM THE BACKS of summer postcards. Through marriage the Countess Guy de Baillet-Latour, who is soon to give up her title and become the wife of Maximilian Gevers, New York socialite banker, is related to Lucy and Nancy Cochrane, Boston's well-known glamour girls. Their brother, Alexander "Budsey" Cochrane, is married to the Countess' sister, Cynthia Dunn.

The former Marianna Dunn married Count Baillet-Latour in '36 and lived in Brussels till the outbreak of the war. The count lost his life in an air crash. This summer she is living in Manchester but her childhood was spent at Marion, Mass., where her parent have a home. Hed dad is in the State Department and her mother is a daughter of the Armour family of Chicago.

According to Newport neighbors of the former Bella Grandin of Boston and her husband, Henry Sturtevant Howard, the couple have just about decided to call themselves the H. Sturtevant Howards. There are two other couples by the name of Henry Howard in Newport, Bella's in-laws and a lieutenant and his wife (no relation).

All of which results in such a confusion of phone calls and mail that Bella received many of the congratulatory messages when a son and heir was born to the Lt. Howards and is constantly getting regrets or acceptances to invitations issued by the other Mrs Howards.

VIVE LA FRANCE: The three musketeers of the Fighting French restaurant, socialites Mrs. Wm. D Sohier, Mrs. John Tuckerman and Mrs. John V. Spalding, will really have cause to celebrate when they reopen for a third season next Wednesday.

So much good news has come from France while the little cafe was closed to give its volunteer staff a summer vacation that the trio have more than ever the incentive to continue their extraordinary success in helping the French cause. Before the liberation their profits helped to supply guns and ambulances. Now they will go to American Relief for France, Inc., to aid in rehabilitation of the people.

A veritable home front corner of the old Left Bank which our GI's are visiting right now, the gay little tri-color restaurant at 121 Newbury is the product of their own initiative and hard work. Except for the chef it is entirely manned by their socialite friends who toss salads, wash dishes, wait on table and sweep the floor. Among them are Mrs. Charles S. Bird and daughter, Diana, Mrs. Samuel Newman, Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard, Mrs. Robert Emmons, Mrs. W. Lloyd Allen, Mrs. Kenneth Billings, Betsy Rimmer, Mrs. Andre Morize and many more.

Close Bonds Tie Parachutists

A close comradeship exists between parachute medical aid men and parachute infantrymen because they drop into battle together, it was stated today by PFC Waldon J. Webster of Pond st., Natick, home after 18 months' service with the parachute infantrymen.

He served in Sicily and at Anzio, where he was wounded by a shell fragment and later awarded the Purple Heart.

"The tradition of the Infantry is to keep on fighting," PFC Webster said, "and it's up to us medics to see that they get fast attention so they can. That's why we drop right with them and stay with them at all times."

New Shop Simply Grand

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

WE DON'T OFTEN DEVOTE a column to a beauty shop . . . but we are so entranced with a new one in downtown Boston that it wouldn't be fair not to share it with budget-limited readers.

One of Boston's most famous stores—in fact, it is nationally famous—realized that thousands of their customers just couldn't afford to patronize their exclusive, elegant beauty salon. Yet they wanted to provide the same type of trained operators in attractive and sanitary surroundings for the average business girl and the housewife.

Their answer was a "Little Beauty Shop" at bargain basement prices, and it is simply grand! It isn't in the basement . . . you enter it directly from the street . . . no elevators to get to through crowded aisles. For a secretary on her lunch hour those seconds gained mean something.

I was surprised at how charmingly appointed it is, with its pink-glow fluorescent light and air-conditioning to keep you comfortable and relaxed. There are plenty of skilled operators ready to give you clever haircuts, to suggest a new hair-do, to treat your skin, hair and nails in a manner that usually means a whopping bill.

You can call and make an appointment . . . and you won't be kept waiting. If you are tired after a day's shopping, just going into this shop will make you feel like a new woman. And you'll be a lovelier one when you leave, I promise you!

I've talked about how kind it is to the budget . . . well, their super-permanents start at five dollars, and the finger waves are 75 cents. See what I mean?

Call the Beauty Department at Liberty 4000, or write me, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, for the name of this new salon.

DO YOU FEEL as if a new and smart hair-do . . . like the one Lynn Baggett has, above . . . would do something for your looks and spirit? Then get acquainted with a new and delightful down-town beauty salon that is kind to the budget.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Wednesday—Monday I left Hyde Park in the early morning to go down to New York city and straight on to Washington. I am only here for one day, and have come because I find that there are certain things it is wise to talk over with the housekeeper before the actual winter season begins.

There has been no time this year when someone hasn't been living in the White House, and so the difficulties of cleaning and renovating an old house tax all the staff here in spite of their long experience.

I HAD A MOST interesting talk with Lorenzo A. Winslow, the White House architect, today. I learned from him the reason why it was necessary to have the White House painted white.

I had always heard that the sandstone out of which it was built had become so blackened by smoke, in the War of 1812, that it was decided to paint over the smoke. I did not realize, however, that sandstone is porous enough for the smoke to penetrate to great depth.

Mr. Winslow says he has found, in doing certain renovating on the outside, that the stone was blackened to a depth of some two inches. Naturally, painting it was the only possible thing to do.

It is a pleasure to talk to someone with Mr. Winslow's feeling for restoring whatever he can which has historical interest in the White House. His desire is to do whatever is done now in a way that will increase the historical value for the future. This is a point of view which my husband and I deeply appreciate.

IT IS WONDERFULLY cool here for this season, and I am lucky to have come when the weather is so kind. In spite of the heat this summer, William Reeves, the florist, has managed to keep the little garden near the house looking very lovely.

I enjoyed looking out this morning on the rose garden, and for the first time the garden by the new office wing is fully planted and looks finished.

The flower beds on the lawn down by the tennis courts are not quite so well kept as usual, since labor is hard to find. But on the whole I think the grounds are a joy to see.

The thing which pleased me most, as I came out of the gate this morning, was to find the barriers down and people walking on the side of the street nearest the White House. I think people like to get a close view of the grounds, and these barriers have prevented them for many months from doing so.

Fashion

GRAY IS GOING to be one of the best colors this fall . . . and here is Mainbacher's light gray flannel tailored suit with dressmaker touch in the scalloped edged pockets . . . collarless and a rounded cuff line. The white silk blouse has a draped neckline which he features in his Spring 1944 collection. With it the model wears a corsage of white violets to match her crown of the same blossoms. —R. M.

Shrimp Dishes That Please All

By Martha Lee

IT'S AN INGENIOUS HOME COOK who can combine good flavor, high food value and low cost in a one-dish main course that is substantial, satisfying and requires the minimum of preparation. But it's really easy to do if you start with canned shrimp. It has a flavor that adds a sea-breeze freshness to meals, it costs very little, and as for food value, it offers protein, vitamins A and D, and all of the 13 bone-building minerals.

When canned shrimp is scalloped with bread crumbs and milk, you've accounted for three of the "basic seven" foods in an all-in-one-dish that bakes itself. Shrimp is a food that can be combined deliciously with any one of a number of different vegetables. Here are some recipes guaranteed to raise shouts for shrimp in your dining nook:

Scalloped Shrimp

SCALLOPED SHRIMP

1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 cups soda cracker crumbs
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
Few grains nutmeg
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
1 7-oz. can shrimp (1¼ cups)

Mix bread and cracker crumbs with butter or margarine, salt, pepper, nutmeg and parsley. Drain shrimp, reserving liquor. Arrange layer of ¼ crumb mixture in casserole; top with shrimp. Cover with remaining crumb mixture. Add enough milk to shrimp liquor to make 1 cup; pour over casserole. Add enough additional milk to cover mixture in casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about ¾ hour, or until liquid is absorbed. Makes 4 servings.

SHRIMP AND WATERCRESS TIMBALES

½ cup milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 tbsp. melted butter or margarine
Paprika
white sauce
½ cup soft bread crumbs
1 7-oz. can shrimp (1¼ cups)
½ cup minced watercress

Add milk to eggs; add melted butter or margarine, and crumbs. Shred shrimp; add with watercress. Pour into greased custard cups. Place in shallow pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about ½ hour, or until set. Unmold, serve with white sauce flavored with paprika. Makes 4 servings.

CURRIED SHRIMP

½ tbsp. butter or margarine
½ cup minced green pepper
3 tbsp. flour
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. curry powder
1 bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup boiling water
1 cup milk
1 tsp. onion juice
2½ cups canned cleaned shrimp
½ cup diced raw celery

Melt butter, add green pepper and cook over medium heat 3 minutes. Stir in flour, curry powder, and salt, and when well blended add stock and milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens and boils. Add shrimp, onion juice, and celery, and more salt if necessary. Heat and serve in center of rice ring. Makes 6 servings.

Note—Tomato juice may replace the milk. More curry powder may be added, if desired.

RICE RING

Mix cooked rice with ¼ cup melted butter or margarine and place in greased 1-quart ring mold. Set mold in pan of hot water for 10 minutes. Turn out of mold on hot round platter and fill center of rice ring with creamed meat, fish, or vegetable. Curried fish, meat or chicken give additional flavor.

SHRIMP SALAD

Salt and pepper
2 cups canned shrimp
Lettuce
1 cup diced celery
½ cup French dressing
½ cup mayonnaise

Sprinkle shrimp with salt and pepper, add celery and French dressing, and let chill half an hour or more. Serve on platter in lettuce cups and garnish with mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

Birthday Gift for Boy Friend

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
I have been going with a boy for four months. He's having a birthday soon and, if it's proper, I'd like to give him a gift. If so, what kind of gift should I give him? G. C.

If, as I judge, he's taken you out quite often, and perhaps sent you flowers or other remembrances, of course give him a gift for his birthday: handkerchiefs, a well-chosen book on a subject that particularly interests him, a fountain pen or pen-and-pencil set, game set, some phonograph records, pocket comb in case, letter-paper (large, white single sheets), writing portfolio or other item for his desk.

Beware Unhappy Crooner

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—My husband is in Italy and I am employed. I want to be true to him, but where I work there is a married man who's continually coaxing me to go out with him. I finally consented to go with him and spent an entire day in his company and he was very nice to me. He says he's unhappy with his wife, but that's all he would say.

Everybody likes him and I've learned to care for him also. I want to be true to my husband although I have stepped out once in a while, but I think it's just because I'm so lonely. If my husband found out, there'd be a divorce, because he warned me if I ever cheated he would be through with me. I do love him with all my heart. What shall I do? P. R.

Of course you're lonesome with your husband overseas. But do you think going out with a married man warbling that same old theme song "I'm unhappy with my wife" is really sensible? I can't see any harm in a young wife whose soldier-husband is away, going out with a bunch of friends which includes men and women.

These theme singers with their doleful croon "I'm unhappy at home" or "My wife doesn't understand me" or "Why didn't we meet before?" are excellent risks to avoid.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

THIS IS WRONG! Don't "drop in" to see a friend during business hours. (It is not impolite to tell the "social" caller in your office, "I'm sorry, I have a great deal to do so I can't talk long.")

'You're Welcome'

I'd like to make a plea for the return of the good old standby "you're welcome" as an acknowledgement of a thank-you for a more or less casual courtesy. I'm sure it would be an ever-ready help to a great many people who seem to be at a loss as to just what to say when someone says "thank you" for a small courtesy.—MRS. BEECKMAN.

Packing for Travel

By BETTINA BEDWELL

YOU folks who are going to be traveling in the coming days, and many of you will be going one place or another, might like to have a few hints on how to pack. It is something that can make much difference in how you look when you get where you're going.

First rule, I think, is to pack your clothes separate from the odd, lumpy objects that always have to be taken along. Pack heavy clothes at the bottom, and always use plenty of tissue paper between garments, for it does much to prevent wrinkling. Smooth each garment flat and fold the edges that are too large for the space you have over lightly, with tissue paper between them. Put rumpled tissue paper in the shoulders and upper sleeves of jackets and coats. Pack your light dresses above your heavy things, and your thin waists and such things right at the top. A well filled tray or valise is better than a half-empty one. Never pack nail polish, perfume or other liquids in the compartment with your clothes.

Deanna Durbin's New Role Another Triumph for Star

By PEGGY DOYLE

Deanna Durbin, Universal's most sheltered box-office treasure, tastes the dregs in her newest starring picture, "Christmas Holiday," the Somerset Maugham tale about a boy who grows up emotionally during a holiday in France.

Blue-penciled to Hays office requirements and its locale transferred to New Orleans, this arresting drama, now showing on Keith Memorial screen, reveals a mature, vital, compassionate Deanna you must see to believe.

There has been considerable criticism directed at the studio and producer Felix Jackson for abruptly switching Miss Durbin's screen aura of charming, luxurious wholesomeness to one suggesting sleaziness, cheapness, degradation. The young singing star's career has been a triumphant succession of pictures that have made the studio millions, pictures that have telescoped, in the best Cinderella tradition, the coming-of-age of a lovely young girl from pigtail-and-gingham days.

But in each life some rain must fall, reasoned Jackson, and so, lifting Deanna out of her cellophane wrappings, he has plunged her into a story that is sordid yet promising of happier things and she is revealed as possessed of unsuspected dramatic depths.

That preciousness that was beginning to mar her naturalness is completely absent in Miss Durbin's honest and engrossing characterization of a over made-up singer in a fourth-rate night club. You are due for a surprise when she first appears on the screen, a slinky, tired, bored entertainer who doesn't much care that her voice will hardly be heard above the clamor of uncouth voices, silver against dishes and clinking bottles and glasses.

She tells the story to a young Army lieutenant, who is stranded in the southern city when his transcontinental plane is forced down. He is unhappy, has just received word that his fiance has married another. She is unhappy because after six months of idyllic marriage her husband is arrested on a murder charge, convicted, sentenced to life imprisonment. She tells the lieutenant about it and you get it in vivid, absorbing flashbacks.

Gene Kelly is the husband-murderer, who has always felt dwarfed by the impressiveness of his fine, old southern background. He projects skillfully the character of a lad whose persuasive charm and dark good looks so bemuse the girl he loves she never suspects his shocking lack of intestinal fortitude until too late.

Gale Sondergaard is excellent as his austere mother.

Bathing Beauties Finals Tonight

The grand finals of the Miss Massachusetts contest will take place tonight, at 9, on the RKO-Boston stage. Bathing beauties from all parts of the state will vie for the honor of representing Massachusetts at Atlantic City, where Miss America for 1944 will be chosen from national contestants.

Trans-Lux Film Excites

"Storm Over Lisbon," the new feature at the Trans-Lux, is full of spies, lovely ladies and a really remarkable cast. In the star spot is Vera Hurba Ralston, the skater-dancer now turned dramatic actress, who is seen as a femme fatale in a role tailored to her own svelte proportions.

Others in the cast are Richard Arlen, Erich von Stroheim, Otto Kruger, Eduardo Ciannelli, Robert Livingstone, Mona Barrie and Frank Orth.

There is a specially interpolated sequence for the gorgeous Miss Ralston to dance. Needless to say it is possibly the film's most agreeable moment.

Dorothy Kilgallen writes "Broadway's Voice" every day for the Boston American.

Dr. Carrel Arrested As Fascist Teacher

PARIS, Aug. 31 (AP)—Dr. Alexis Carrel, director of the Vichy-supported Carrel Institute and one-time scientific associate of Charles A. Lindberg, has been arrested by the French Forces of the Interior.

Dreiseverd Helps, But Maybe Too Late

By JACK CONWAY

Clem Dreisewerd, southpaw star from the Pacific Coast League, will be a great lift to the Red Sox in the closing stages of the American League pennant race, but it is still very unlikely that Joe Cronin's club will be able to win the pennant. There are too many weak spots in the Sox flinging department to be offset by Dreisewerd.

It is also too much to expect that the new southpaw sensation will prove as consistent a winner as Tex Hughson who Connie Mack entered the Army with a record of 18 wins and five defeats. Hughson was one of those exceptional pitching stars who bobs to the front with a club like the Sox about once in a decade.

It is never the less a pleasant relief for Joe Cronin to have a flinger like Dreisewerd on his staff. The latter will be particular helpful when the Sox make their last road trip which will do more than anything else to determine the final standing of the club.

The Browns have been pleading for some other club to take over their league leadership, but the other teams have played inconsistent baseball in the critical periods of the flag race. They have refused to take full advantage of the poor baseball the Browns have played.

Connie Mack is quite frank in declaring that if the Browns are beaten the honors will go to Detroit or to the Yanks. Mack does not believe that the Sox have the necessary pitching strength to cut down the Browns' lead and then go on to win the pennant.

League Is Weak

Mack realizes that for a club to win a pennant, especially when it must come from behind, that it is necessary for it to have top flinging. If the Sox had been able to have retained Hughson and had then acquired Rex Cecil and Clem Dreisewerd, it would have been in a much better position to have made a pennant bid.

Hughson would probably have won two or three games for the Sox during the past two weeks and the club would be about even with the Browns. Without Hughson, the Sox slipped, and I do not believe that Cecil and Dreisewerd can make up for the damage caused by the loss of Tex.

The chief reason why the American League race has been so erratic is because none of the first division teams possess an abundance of strength. Each club has drastic weaknesses and as a result there is not any consistencey in the playing of any of the four leaders, Browns, Tigers, Sox and Yanks.

It is a different story in the National League. The Cardinals have proved they have a class ball club. They are coasting to the pennant. They will probably be the favorites to win the World Series.

Random Shots at Target

It is Governors' Day at the Marshfield Fair. It is expected that Lt. Gov. Horace Cahill will represent Gov. Saltonstall. The latter is at the home of his mother in Maine and will remain there until after Labor Day. The Marshfield Fair has been setting new records for attendance and mutuel handle. Ernie Sparrell, director of racing, and Pres. Charley Langille look for new marks on Saturday and on Labor Day.

There have been 206 horses available for the races at Marshfield. This is more than 50 greater than have been at Marshfield. Collector of Internal Revenue Dennis Delaney has had his expert staff at Marshfield. The fairs, as well as the horse and dog tracks, furnish much revenue for the government.

Yankees Break Camp for Trip

FRANKLIN, Aug. 31—After 16 days of tough, rugged double sessions, the Boston Yanks break camp after a scrimmage this afternoon and start packing for a trip which will take them away from the Hub until Sept. 11 to play exhibition games against two National League clubs and a scrimmage at the Sampson Naval Training Station in New York.

Coach Herb Kopf will take 30 players with him tomorrow night and the squad will head directly for Sampson where they will work out Saturday afternoon and then scrimmage Lt. Com. Jimmy Crowley's Middies, Sunday. The Yanks will remain there through Monday and head for Cleveland Tuesday morning.

Wednesday night, the Boston outfit will tackle the Rams under lights in the big Municipal Stadium there, and this first test of the newly organized Yanks will be watched with keen interest throughout the circuit.

After this tussle, Coach Herb Kopf will lead his charges into Buffalo where they will practice through Saturday in preparation for their exhibition tilt with the powerful Green Bay Packers Sunday, a tilt that figures to attract over 25,000 fans.

Kopf is looking forward to these exhibition games, for they will give him a definite line on many of his doubtful gridmen. Intra-squad scrimmages are great for conditioning but actual games often tell the real story. And since there's nothing at stake, the Yanks' mentor will experiment in these two clashes in an effort to find his strongest possible unit for the coming season which opens here on Sept. 26 against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Wellesley Kids Join the Swim

The kids in Wellesley will have their big day Saturday when the American Legion Post, 72, conducts its annual swimming meet at Morse's Pond to be held this year in conjunction with the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Learn to Swim campaign.

A life-saving exhibition will feature the program of 12 events.

The entire card, as arranged by meet director Roderick Mackinnon, will be devoted to graduates of the swimming classes held this summer. Tests will range from 15 yards for beginners to 50-yard races for the most advanced classes. There'll also be diving for intermediate and advanced boys and girls with an obstacle race crowning the program.

The committee in charge will include Com. Richard Dee, Joe Noyes, Ray Tyler, William Delaney and Leo Madden, supervisor of the bathing beach.

Pavot Favored in Belmont Hopeful

Nine juveniles, headed by W. M. Jeffords' Pavot, are expected to go postward Saturday in the 40th running of the Hopeful at Belmont to boost the over-all gross value of the ancient stake to $56,050.

Pavot probably will be an odds-on favorite, followed by War Jeep of the Maine Chance Farm. Great Power of the Brookmeade Stable second choice and G. D Widener's Plebiscite.

Braves Issue Call for Their Farm Hand Boys

By BILL GRIMES

With the selective draft out to catch up with some of his hirelings, Manager Bob Coleman will welcome the run of the players the Braves have on option to Indianapolis, Syracuse and Hartford.

In order to help out his friend, Lt. Col. Frank McKenney, president of the club, Bob Quinn sent Chet Clemens, Mike Sabena, Hugh Poland, Cari Lindquist and Pat Capri to Indianapolis. Yesterday the Braves recalled all but Capri.

Clemens and Sabena had fine years in the American Ass'n, the former hitting for .301 and the latter .319. Hughie Poland, a catcher, who came to the Boston club with Connie Ryan, in the deal that sent Ernie Lombardi to the Giants and enriched the Braves' treasury $25,000, is currently batting for .278 for the "Caps."

Ben Geraghty, an infielder, and George Woodend, a pitcher, have been recalled from Syracuse and "Frenchy" Gladu and Steve Shemo will return from Hartford at the end of the Eastern League playoffs.

Pres. Quinn was advised yesterday by the Wilmington, Del., club of the Inter-State League that young Gene Patton, the schoolboy Scout John Ogden picked up last spring, has entered the U. S. Marine Corps and that the kid shortstop's papers are being returned to the Braves.

CLINCH AFTER 1ST ROUND—Francisco Segura of Ecuador, top-seeded among the men, and Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, Cal., flash victory smiles after winning their opening tests in the National Tennis Championships at Forest Hills, N. Y. Miss Betz has taken the women's title for the last two years.

One More Pitcher Might Save Tigers

By FRED HOEY

For two persons, Walter Briggs, Sr., and his son, Walter, who have made such a huge success of the automobile industry, and in current times, in war production, it is very patent to everybody that they have sadly neglected their baseball enterprise — the Detroit Tigers.

It might be considered lese majeste in New England, but the fact remains that the cards point to the Detroit Tigers in this mad scramble for the American League pennant.

The Briggs family owns the Detroit Tigers lock, stock and barrel and even "Boom Boom" Beck, the "loosingest" pitcher that Landis ever permitted on a ball field, and that includes Brooklyn, too.

The Tigers have two outstanding pitchers—Dizzy Trout with 21 wins against nine defeats, and Hal Newhouser with a 20-8 record. Then comes Lefty Overmire with a 9-11 count. Johnny Gorsica with a 5-12 figure has not been so hot. Then they have Beck and old 3 and 2 Jake Mooty and who has pitched for everybody but the Bloomer Girls. Jakes and Boom might be considered the official losers for the Tigers after a scan at their records. They have a guy named Rube Gentry but he's just that—a rube.

CHANCE BEFORE THEM

With Trout and Newhouser, between them, knocking off 41 games it seems puzzling that the House of Dough commanded by the Briggs family doesn't step out or it would be general manager Jack Zellers, to pick up a pitcher of merit, regardless of the cost.

If the Tigers could pick up one more pitcher, say a guy like Dreisewerd, whom the Red Sox landed, it would be duck soup for the Tigers in their pennant fight with their finish at home.

Maybe we are putting bad ideas in the heads of the Tigers, since our own Red Sox still are very much in the fight. But that Detroit angle is a thought, in any case.

It means the difference between so-so ordinary baseball income for Detroit or it means a quarter of a million dollars in pennant dough, in the event the Tigers come through.

An investment of just $100,000 might do the trick for the Tigers.

THE APPLAUSE THAT REFRESHES

We admit we're perked up by your hearty applause for the regular appearance of Carstairs White Seal whiskey again everywhere. We thank you. We further admit we sort of think we deserve your enthusiasm—because we DID maintain pre-war quality in the Perfectly Balanced Blend even when the whiskey shortage was at its shortest. But now everybody can get Carstairs White Seal without hunting—and we can get rid of that hunted look!

Braves on Way to Play Fort Dix Game

The Braves left this morning for Camp Dix where they play an exhibition game tonight . . . Then they will move into Philadelphia for the week-end, starting off with a twi-light conflict tomorrow, during which "Red" Barrett and Al Javery will do the hurling.

The Red Sox are due home today . . . They are scheduled for three single games with the Athletics, opening tomorrow . . . With the Braves going out of town and the Red Sox coming home, there'll be no game today.

Tom Yawkey is perfectly satisfied with Joe Cronin as a manager, otherwise he wouldn't have signed the "Skipper" to handle the Red Sox for another three years.

The Braves' farm club at Hartford has played to more than 111,000 cash customers at home this season.

After the Eastern League playoffs, Mgr. Bob Coleman will probably bring Vinc Shupe and Bob Brady up from Hartford . . . Shupe has been sensational both at first base and at the bat, while Brady, who is a catcher, has developed into a fine receiver and is hitting well over the .300 mark.

Jim Tobin made a fine play on Johnny Rucker in the 4th . . . The Giants' speed merchant "dragged" along the grass just inside the first base line but "Tobe" went over, scooped up the ball and flipped it to "Buck" Etchison.

Tobin pitched about as many balls to Bill Jurges in the 6th as he had to the previous 16 Giants that had faced him . . . He finally walked the New Yorker.

With one out in the 6th, "Tobe" had a no-man-reach, no-hitter but a walk, a steal and a "bloop" single to left by Ewald Pyle not only ruined Jim's chances of another no-hitter but tied the score.

WHITEY GOES GREAT

"Whitey" Wietelman went well out into center field to gather in Ernie Lombardi's hoist in the 7th . . . With Frankie Drews on first, Pyle served "Buck" Etchison a hanging curve and the Braves' first sacker smashed it into the Giants' bull pen for the circuit . . . Nap Reyes started the 8th with a two bagger to the remote center field corner but after Jurges walked for the second time, Bruce Sloan, who hit for Pyle, lined to Frankie Drews, who doubled up Jurges . . . Then, Drews tossed out Johnny Rucker.

Wietelmann greeted "Ace" Adams, who was making his 53d appearance of the year on the mound, with a home run into the Giants' bull pen . . . It was "Whitey's" second homer of his major league career . . . He connected with his first circuit drive in Pittsburgh on the last western trip.

BILL GRIMES.

Governor's Day at Marshfield Fair

MARSHFIELD FAIR GROUNDS, Aug. 31—Today is Governor's Day at the 77th annual fair being run here and for the featured event there's the Governor's Handicap.

Unfortunately Governor Leverett Saltonstall will not be present but Lieutenant Governor Horace Cahill will do the honors in his stead. Racing Secretary Picarillo has carded a fine race for the feature with such stars of the half mile firmament as Sweet Spice, Mythical King, Tetratown, Flying Ned, Jack Dove, Buckboard, Camp Sortie, Alamode and Savannah, among the starters.

PLENTY OF HORSES

The fair has gotten off to a grand start with mutuel and attendance figures toppling each day. And among the unique records established is that which had Frankie Law riding in the second at Narragansett, Tuesday, finishing out of the money, and then making a fast automobile dash of 50 miles to ride here aboard Pi Phi in the sixth, and win. He had two more mounts during the afternoon.

Racing Sec. Picarillo has a sufficiency of horses on the grounds with applications for stalls being received every day.

As a result of the rush a great many horses are being accommodated at the Brockton Fair Grounds and being vanned back and forth to the races each day.

All the horses which are racing here will also race at Brockton and Great Barrington where Picarillo is also racing secretary.

Pay Tribute To Grid Heroes

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP)—Fifty thousand football fans joined in a memorial tribute to the nation's college grid players in service at impressive half-time ceremonies at last night's college all star game in Dyche stadium.

In a darkened field, the all star band of 200 marched into the stadium, their caps and instruments bearing electric lights. As the lines formed in the shape of a giant star, Don Ameche, movie star, paid tribute to grid stars in service, particularly to six former all stars who have lost their lives in service.

They were Ensign Nile Kinnick of Iowa; Lt. Robert D. Moser of Texas A. & M.; Lt. James W. McDonald of Illinois; Ensign George Schulte of Rockhurst, and Aviation Cadet George Lenc of Augustana.

6 to 1 Odds Against Sox to Win Flag

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit ran head on into the St. Louis Browns today in a do-or-die pennant series while the Yankees and Red Sox took on second division opposition.

If the New Yorkers weren't too tired after climbing the steps from second to fourth and back to second in the last three days, the schedule calling for a six-game home set with the last place Washington Senators offered a golden opportunity.

Detroit needed to repeat last week-end's three out of four success or be virtually counted out of the running. Steve O'Neill had Stubby Overmire and Hal Newhouser ready to go in the first two games and Dizzy Trout hanging around when needed.

Although the Tigers did put the Brownies down for a nine-count in their last series, the season figures gave the league leaders a 12-6 edge with four to go.

BROWNS 2½ TO 1 FAVORITE

Oddsmakers had installed St. Louis as a 2½ to 1 favorite to win and quoted figures of 3 to 1 against New York, 4 to 1 against Detroit and 6 to 1 against Boston. In any event, they were prepared to shell out 13 to 5 that none of them could beat the Cardinals in the World Series.

The Browns ran into trouble in Cleveland, blowing a substantial lead as the Tribe counted eight times in the eighth to grab a 12-7 decision. Reliefer Jim Bagby took the win over George Caster who replaced Starter Jack Kramer.

Detroit stumbled against Chicago and bowed to Ed Lopat, 8-3. Running out of Newhousers and Trouts, the Tigers started Johnny Gorsica who absorbed his 10th straight beating. Dutch Leonard tossed Washington to a 9-4 verdict over Philadelphia's Luke Hamlin in the other American League.

Chicago dealt a lody blow at Pittsburgh's second place hopes by twice trimming the Pirates, 12-5 and 6-3. Hank Wyse and Claude Passeau were the winners over Rip Sewell and Ray Starr in a double that lasted 5½ hours and included homers by Dom Dallessandro, Babe Dahlgren and Vince DiMaggio.

Cincinnati, rained out at St. Louis, moved to within 2½ games of second spot.

Ben Chapman pitched and batted Brooklyn to a 10-2 slaughter of Philadelphia.

Lynn Frasers to Meet Birmingham

The Frasers of Lynn stack up against one of the best teams in the Negro League when they meet the Birmingham Barons at Fraser Field tonight under the floodlights. The Shoe City nine has met and defeated some of the best teams in the country including the Homestead Grays, Fore River, Cuban Giants and Black Yankees.

Thursday night they handed the Casey Club, champions of the Boston Park League a terrific lacing to the tune of 11 to 0. The game tonight at Lynn will start at 8:30.

Charlie Smith After Fourth Straight Win

Charlie Smith, hard hitting New York ringster, will be after his fourth straight K. O. tonight when he faces Oscar Lewis, Newark, N. J., in the feature bout of 10 rounds tonight at the Fall River Casino. Smith appeared at Providence in his three bouts in which he knocked out Jean Barriere, Al Freda and Danny Ionatta.

Lewis is not the slugging type of ringster but depends on his classy left hand to win his share of contests.

BON JOUR IN HANDICAP

Banish Frisch From Twin Bill

CHICAGO (AP) — Frankie Frisch, Pirates manager, was banished from the dugout by Umpire Boggess during the sixth inning of the second game of a doubleheader with the Cubs. After trotting up to the plate to talk to Catcher Hank Camelli, while criticizing Boggess' calls, Frisch returned to the dugout and continued his remarks from there until banished.
